THE NEW LEGISLATURE.

Your correspondent has been in Frankfort in a professional capacity during so many winters, and has seen so many Legislatures in and out, that it might be supposed that he would by this time be something of an adepting to the condition of the condition of a new body has the in and out, that it might be supposed that he would by this time be something of an adept in judging of the quality of a new body by the appearance of its members. Appearances are often so deceptive, however, that, as regards the character of the present Legislature, he is not willing as yet to risk a judgment. Taken altogether, the members present quite a respectable appearance. There are some very good-looking men among them, and some not so particularly handsome. There is an ancient prejudice indissolubly conjoining homeliness with intellectuality, and although, as I have said, the members on the whole are well enough looking, yet I do not think the universality of Apolloneonic grace precludes the possibility of finding among them statesmen and orators. One thing that promises well for the present Legislature is that it is composed in great part of new men. Without intending to reflect upon any of the gentlemen who have been fortunate enough to be returned, for as a rule they are good men. I cannot refrain from exfortunate enough to be returned, for as a rule they are good men, I cannot refrain from ex-fortunate enough to be returned, for as a rule they are good men, I camot refrain from expressing my gratification at the predominance of the new element. New men are of course less versed in the medus operandi of legislation, but they come fresh from the people, and unhampered by old ideas and prejudices. It is well enough to have in the new body some of the old material, but, as every housewife knows, a little leaven goes a long way.

Looking at the members this morning, I was impressed with the rather youthful appearance of many among them. Especially its this observable in the House of Representatives. I very much doubt whether a Kentucky Legislature ever convened before the aggregate ages of whose members proportionally reached so low a figure. The people of Kentucky have given a practical proof that they do not coincide in the wisdom of the gray-beard policy which has of late prevailed in France and other European countries, and it is to be hoped that the issue will vindicate the wisdom of their action. The age is, for good or bate denied in protting regressive and evaluate rather the same protting the results of the proper that the rather youth rather than the same will vindicate the wisdom of their action. The age is, for good or bate of the protting the protting the protting that the rather youth rather the same protting that the rather youth rather than the same protting that the same protter than the same protting that the same protter than the same protting that the same protter than the om of their action. The age is, for good or bed, eminently progressive, and youth rather than age is fitted for progress.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE WILL DO.

There are many needed reforms and many changes required in our statute laws. A little time will demonstrate whether our new legis-lators are equal to the situation. The last Legislature was not and the one preceding it lators are equal to the situation. The last Legislature was not and the one preceding it was not, though there were many members in both who, could they have controlled, would have brought about a different state of things. Of this I have better hopes. Its members being for the most part new men, and fresh from the people, are more likely to know what the people want and to act accordingly. Sourbonism, it is not to be sup-

Not the least change demanded by the public interest is one repording

THE LAW OF TESTIMONT.

And at least I think I can with safety venture upon the prediction that a Legislature of Kentucky will enact a law admitting negroes to testify in our State courts. It would have been infinitely better had the counsel of the COUNTER-JOUENAL been followed years ago on this subject, but better late than never. The necessity of making the necessary change in our testimony laws is now so clear that the most obtuse can not fail to appreciate it, and the veriest old fogy in the land is compelled to acknowledge it.

Gov. Lealle, in his message, recommends, I understand, the enactment of a law admitting all mitters without the services without the understand, the cancinent of alaw admitting cill witnesses without distinction to testify, except in the establishment of claims against estates. The modification recommended, if adopted, would give us a testimony law essentially the same as that which prevails in England; and I have confidence that the Governor's recommendation will be received with favor by the Legislature.

One week from to-morrow the election of a enator to succeed Hon. Garrett Davis comes One week from to-morrow the election of a Senator to succeed Hon. Garrett Davis comes off. McCreery is here making interest with members for the succession. Beck, who is looked upon as his most formidable competitor, of course can not be in Frankfort to urge his claims, as his duty to the South and the Democratic party just now imperatively requires his presence at Washington as a member of the Kuklux Committee.

If the election had come off a year or two ago, McCreery would certainly have been the man. As the case stands, I consider the matter very much mixed. In a contest between McCreery and Beck, I am inclined to think the latter would wis, tuless, indeed, Garrett Davis' candidacy has the effect of producing too great a diversion.

DR. C. H. WINTERSMITH:
DEAR SIR—About one year ago a member of my family, who had been suffering for some time with a disease of the kidneys and bladder, was advised to try your Extract Buchu and Fareira and, I must say, its effects were mirraculous. It cured her at the time completely. She had no return of it until within the last month. After taking another bottle she is again entirely releved. She thinks it the greatest medicine in the world I most earnestly recommend it to all suffering the last season.

In conclusion this gifted officer, in the letter above referred to, adds:

"I think that long since the wonderful advantages of Newport News would have been accepted by our people but for the false idea of insecurity. That this idea is false, I am thoroughly convinced, and I am equally considered, and I am equally considered that, eventually, Newport News must become Virginia's great trade center.

With such evidence as this, and so clerity presented by a cified ex-officer of the United States Navy, it expects that the sound in the Canada of the Canada tion, and boildly goes for Newport News, as the st and proper place.

22 and 25 feet? It is this class of vessels which trade to all parts of the world. Those that now go up the James are chiefly coasters. And just here let me make the pertinent inquiry, which concerns especially our Kentucky and other Western producers.

Is this railroad to stop even for a period at Richmond, and its will not a vast majority of the produces shipped from the West over this road find its exit to foreign ports, after being first taken coastwise to New York, and it thence reshipped? If so, what safvantage to thence reshipped? If so, what safvantage to reproduct sent over the C. and O. railroad, when, without the expense of transablipment at Riehmond, it could go direct to New York by other railroads, and thence to say port in the world?

This is a question into which the neonle of Rishmond, it could go direct to New York by other relironds, and thence to any port in the world?

This is a question into which the people of Louisville and all along the line of roads consecting with the G. and O. abould look, and that immediately.

Our Western friends—those who want quick find edeeply concerned upon this question, and sak for a speedy solution of it.
